

Apologies again for not being able to attend tomorrow's meeting. I have had a look at New Road Cemetery and have made a few comments as nothing has appeared on the Maintenance agenda recently.

Back in February I commented on the state (dead) of a few of the planted trees that need replacing. They are still there as well as need to replace missing trees in the row along the north border. Several of all the trees are still unnecessarily still strapped to their original support frames and are being damaged as a result, even where they are not attached still they are being damaged because they are rubbing against the frames, these need removing as the trees are now strong enough. If the missing or dead trees are not replaced soon replacements will be so undersized compared with their neighbours, especially on the north boundary.

The 'safety' edges of the path up to the seats on the mound are in need of attention, these were originally intended to stop pushchairs or the like slipping off the edge of the pathway to the seats. Can these matters reappear on the agenda please, I have raised the tree issue on several occasions and as an originator of NR cemetery I do have concerns about it.

Regards,

Mike Sherwen