Jilly McNaughton – FWAG East

I have read Lu's advice and unfortunately that does make the pond unfeasible as far as the district level licensing scheme is concerned. There is the budget available to have a watching archaeologist and it is an unknown quantity and can run into tens of thousands of pounds.

I am really sorry as it would make a lovely pond but I totally understand their concerns and the need to do that in an archaeological way.

Do give me a ring if you would like to discuss it any further.
